In the Fall of 2001, the Manufacturers Alliance/MAPI surveyed senior financial officers at member companies on past and current dividend policies. The results can be found in Dividends: Policies and Trends in Manufacturing Companies, which provides information about the factors that motivate and drive a company's dividend policies. The results suggest that dividends may indeed be making a comeback of sorts. The responses of 35 financial officers at some of the nation's leading manufacturing firms, along with analysis of the survey coordinator, give an inside look at the dividend issue.
