Have you ever estimated what time it is by where the sun is in the sky? David Montaigne takes this a few steps further, using ancient descriptions of future skies to calculate dates of events in prophecy through the position of the sun, moon, and planets. Using all the available biblical clues isn't astrology; it is following the instructions of Genesis 1:14: to "let them be for signs."

This use of "forensic astronomy" isn't just for prophecy. Astrophysicist Donald Olson recently used this method to determine that one of Monet's paintings was created on Feb. 5, 1883 at 4:53PM. Montaigne applied similar techniques to ancient prophecies and astronomical descriptions of future skies to calculate dates of end times events.

Isaac Newton attempted these calculations centuries ago; but the solution had to wait until astronomical computer software programs were developed. Montaigne seems to have found what Newton was searching for - an impressive stack of "coincidences" that repeatedly point to the same dates in our near future.

Prophecies in the Bible and other ancient books and monuments warn us that major events on Earth will be mirrored by astronomical alignments in heaven. Our ancestors left us clues about prophetic events - and their main focus is on the final 3.5 years from June 2016 to December 2019.
